

2024 ANNUAL MEETING

Reimagining Geriatric Mental Health:
Innovations to promote the well-being of caregivers and patients

MARCH 15-18 | ATLANTA, GA

AAGP | American Association
for Geriatric Psychiatry

Schedule at a Glance

Welcome to Atlanta!

This year's theme is 'Reimagining Geriatric Mental Health: Innovations to promote the well-being of caregivers and patients.' Geriatric psychiatry is a rapidly evolving specialty. The projected population growth of older adults calls for innovation to promote brain health and well-being on a large scale. New technologies, diagnostic studies, medications, and non-pharmacological treatment strategies are changing our practice.

The AAGP Annual Meeting offers cutting-edge educational programming for a broad audience of allied health professionals, and is relevant to numerous clinical practice settings and patient populations. Learn from experts on the cutting edge of research, clinical care, and educational initiatives. Follow one of the designated 'tracks' through one of these topic areas, or attend individual sessions based on your interest. Don't miss a new track in brain health this year!

Please plan to attend our three exciting plenary sessions. Friday evening, incoming AAGP President, Sandra Swantek, MD, will present Advancing Geriatric Psychiatry: Advocacy and Human Rights for Older Adults. On Saturday, we are pleased to host law professor Rhonda V. Magee, JD, who will speak on 'The Inner Work of Racial Justice: Mindful Compassion for Social Equity, Wellbeing and Resilience in Polarized Time.' Sunday afternoon features a panel of leaders focused on advancing Brain Health. Sarah Lenz Lock, JD, Senior Vice President for Policy, American Association of Retired Persons, and Lisa McGuire, PhD, Lead, CDC Alzheimer's Disease and Healthy Aging Program, Division of Population Health, National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion, CDC, will discuss 'Brain Health: Building a Movement for Change.'

We warmly welcome general psychiatry residents and medical students to the AAGP Annual Meeting, including 50 students and residents selected to participate in the 2024 AAGP Scholars Program.

Thank you to the AAGP administrative team, Board of Directors, committees, and volunteers for their support in the development of this year's program. And we extend a special thank you to our AAGP member donors to the Scholars Program, who make our trainees' participation possible. Wishing everyone a productive and enjoyable meeting!

Best regards,

Please Join Us!

We look forward to seeing you at the 2024 Annual Meeting in Atlanta, March 15-18, 2024. This year's meeting theme will be "Reimagining Geriatric Mental Health: Innovations to promote the well-being of caregivers and patients."

Annual Meeting Objectives

A post-pandemic world calls for innovation to reduce stress and trauma and promote the brain health and well-being of aging adults and their caregivers. At the 2024 Annual Meeting, we will capitalize on transformative initiatives in education, clinical practice, and research to advance brain health awareness among healthcare providers. Our hope is that knowledge gained at this meeting will be brought back into clinical practice to promote healthy and positive aging.

Who Should Attend

The Annual Meeting offers cutting-edge educational programming for a broad audience of allied health professionals, including geriatric and general psychiatrists, medical students, residents and fellows, psychologists, nurse practitioners, social workers, and researchers.

Continuing Education Credit

AAGP's sessions, overall meeting evaluations and CME/CE credit statements will be found on the meeting app. Credits will be offered for the following:

- Nurses (ANCC) Credit Designation
- Physicians (ACCME) Credit Designation
- Pharmacists and Pharmacy Technicians (ACPE) Credit Designation
- Psychologists (APA) Credit Designation
- Social Workers (ASWB) Credit Designation
